MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS.

It is said that the famous statue of Pompey, at whose feet Julius Cæsar died, is now in the possession of the Marquis of Hartford, whose father paid 225,000 francs for it.

Almon in Caledonia, New York, has succeeded in raising one hundred thousand young trout, for which there is a lively demand at $50 per thousand, to stock the neighboring ponds and streams.

A New Haven company has begun the manufacture of compressed stone for building purposes. It is made of sand, pulverized quartz and silicate of soda, and hardens within 24 hours, from the consistency of putty to the solidity of stone.

The Sclavonic Association of New York has made Andrew Johnson an honorary member of that body. The history of their unhappy country ought to warn them what kind of men they invite into their midst.

It is stated that the expense incurred by Canada in consequence of the Fenian invasion may be estimated at not less than $2,500,000, a sum which will be largely increased before the matter subsides into quietness.

The number of persons admitted to the British Museum, shows a continual decrease. In 1865 the number was 370,000, or nearly 170,000 fewer than in 1660. The decrease in the number of visits to the reading-room within the same period has been no less extraordinary.

The mausoleum in Hyde Park, London, erected in memory of Prince Albert, is partly finished. It is 160 feet in height, and is to be surmounted by a statue of the Prince, upon which Macchetti is now engaged. The work has been going on for two years, and will occupy two more.

William Page has finished his historical painting, of which the subject is Admiral Farragut lashed to the shrouds of the Hartford, while she was entering Mobile Bay, August 5th 1

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE.

THURSDAY MORNING, AUGUST 2, 1866.

Trimming.

Some six months ago when it had finally become evident that President Johnson had abandoned the pledges he had given before and after his election to the Chief Magistracy, and when it was made clear by his opposition to Congress and his infidelity to the principles on which he was elected that he had forsaken the Union party and was seeking its destruction, this journal spoke with what earnestness it could against such a proceeding, and in favor of maintaining the Union organization by adhering resolutely to the principles by which it had always been guided. It spoke of Andrew Johnson as one who had shown himself unworthy of the confidence reposed in him, and of his "policy" as something which never could have, and was unworthy to have the support of the Union party. For thus undisguisedly expressing our opinions, and for thus early taking the stand to which the whole Union party has now come, we were censured not a little by a few persons who, though good Union men, had strong faith in the efficiency of political trimming. But as our course has been fully vindicated by the march of events, we can well afford to let these aspersions pass into oblivion.

From the beginning of the President's reconstruction it required no extraordinary sagacity to perceive that harmonious action between him and the Union party was, thereafter, impossible. Some there were who thought it would be wiser to acquiesce in the "policy" of the President for the sake of holding the party together. Such was not our views. Whenever a party abandons its principles it takes its own life. The Union party will never gain ground by professing greater devotion to Democratic dogmas than Democrats themselves have done or can do. Seward can never make the rebels believe that he is a better friend of theirs than Vallandigham. For him to renounce his principles, to accomplish such a result is therefore vain.

The leading Union journals of the United States by their resolute, manly adherence to correct principles—to "Radicalism" if any choose to call it by this name—preserved the party organization. Had they weakly yielded to the monstrosities of "my policy" for the sake of concord, the party would have disintegrated long ago. The Union party is mainly composed of very earnest men. Shuffling and trimming will not satisfy them. If the party with which they are associated falters in its advocacy of the principle it should sustain, they will seek another organization more worthy of its trust. If the Union party loses sight of its central idea—that of liberty regulated by law—another will take up its work.

The great mass of the Union party could not have been brought to support the President in the course he has pursued since last January. Had Congress obeyed the behests of the President, its action would have been repudiated by the people. Even the members of Congress are compelled to admit that it rightly represents the Union party, and that Union Senators and Representatives have been true to those who elected them. What, then, would have been the result of the trimming some have counseled? Simply the dissolution of the Union party.

By the timely action of its best friends the party was kept united. The earnestness with which the action was met has proven its salvation.

Who is He.—We notice that some of the Democratic journals are making a great ado over the fact that Mr. Gideon Welles, the ancient Secretary of the Navy, has written a letter endorsing the Johnson-rebel-copperhead Convention, to be held this month in Philadelphia. The venerable Gideon, it appears, honors the name of Andrew, far more than the said Andrew on a certain occasion, honored the said Gideon. At the time of the "plebian boy's" inauguration as Vice President, he considered the Secretary of the Navy a person of so little consequence that he was not able even to recall his name. Said the newly anointed "Moses" on that occasion:

I want you to hear me. Tennessee always was loyal—we all derive our power from the people—Chief Justice Chase is but a creature of the people—I want you to hear me two minutes—on that point—you, Mr. Secretary of War, derive your power from the people, and you too, Mr. Secretary of the Navy, Mr.—what's—what's your name, (here some one in pity and [illegible] at the great intellect, Mr. Welles!), you, too, Mr. Welles, get your power from the people.

Lest this account should be set down as a "radical lie," we will mention just here that it is copied from a report given in the New York World, in March, 1865. Democrats who are crowing so loudly over Welles' late letter, may with much propriety be reminded that he is no obscure and unimportant a person and of so little account in the nation, that the "noble tribune" on a very great occasion of state, could not even call to mind his inglorious name. Who, then, is Welles, that his name is so great an acquisition to "my policy?"

In the formation of the "new party" the only rule followed is the maxim of Walpole that "every man has his price." In conformity with this rule the President proposes to not only willing to buy up with his patronage—or as his creatures call it, his "bread and butter"—such supporters to make his party respectable in point of numbers, as it will certainly be venal, obsequious and contemptible in point of character. His copperhead supporters are as quick as others to recognize the potency of Walpole's principle, and have before declare they will do nothing for Johnson unless they get their pay in advance. The President believes that with the paltry bribes of office he can break the power of the Union party, and his Democratic admirers plainly tell him that liberal allowances from the public treasury will purchase their fealty to his "policy," and their services for his cause. The "new party" is as strong as the "cohesive power of public plunder" can make it. If it does not prove to be a powerful party, it will be because it is less purchase in money than its fathers suppose. What a pity that Floyd is not living so that they could avail themselves of his experience in this emergency.

A. H. Stephens has condescended to announce that he will favor the Philadelphia Democratic and butter convention with his distinguished presence. And he will bring along some of his particular friends, we suppose, so that, after all, Doolittle & Co. will not be literally, only "two or three gathered together." Alock is very kind. It only remains for Doolittle to apologize in behalf of himself and master, to Stephens, for the uncourteous manner in which the Northern people treated his pretensions to the Vice Presidency of the U. S. A. This done, and the bread-and-butter judiciously distributed, the work of reconstruction may be considered as gloriously and triumphantly consummated. Stephens, Doolittle, Faulkner and Vallandigham as the prophets of Moses, will be a conjunction of spirits black and white, blue and grey, well fitted to illustrate the Mosaic character of the new party.

The Sacramento Union of the 28th, has a letter from Paris dated June 19, beginning "Will there be war—will there really be a European war? it no longer the question; the war has commenced." Since then the first battle was lost and won, the war has had its history and peace is again established, and the details have been transmitted to us, more than half way round the world. This fact is something of a commentary on the progress the world is making in rapid transmission of news. The Atlantic cable, in that respect, has blotted out full six weeks between Paris and the Pacific coast.

By Overland Telegraph.

DATES TO JULY 31.

The Atlantic Cable.

NEW YORK, July 30th.—People here receive the news of the safe laying of the Atlantic cable without apprehension. The following dispatch has been received from Cyrus W. Field:

"HEART'S CONTENT, July 28.—We arrived here at 8 o'clock on Friday morning, all well. Thank God, the cable has been laid and is in perfect working order."

Subsequent dispatches from Field, giving particulars of the voyage, say that the Irish shore cable was laid on Saturday morning, July 21th, and the splice with the ocean cable was made on Friday, 18th, on board the Great Eastern, and buried in 21 fathoms of water, distant 27½ miles from Valentia telegraph house. The Great Eastern and her consorts, at 2:30 a. m., on Friday, the 13th, started for New Foundland. He continues:

"The average speed of the ship from the time a splice was made, until we saw land, was little less than five nautical miles per hour, and the cable was paid out at an average of five and a half miles per hour. The total slack was less than twelve per cent. The weather has been more pleasant than I have ever known it on the Atlantic at this season. The total distance was 1,669 miles, and the cable paid out was 1,864 miles. We have been in constant communication with Valentia since the splice was made, and have daily received news from England. The line will be open for business in a few days, and after taking in coal the telegraph fleet will sail for the spot where the cable was lost last year, and recover the end and complete the second line between Ireland and New Foundland."

NEW YORK, July 30.—No private messages have yet reached us over the cable. The news reports already sent come through C. W. Field, and James Redpath, of the Tribune, who is on board the Albany. The distances to be traveled by the news yacht sailing from Gaspe Bay to Port Au Basque, is 80 miles.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—To Cyrus W. Field, Hearts Content: "I heartily congratulate you, and trust that your efforts may prove as successful as your efforts have been patriotic. May the cable modify the sea tend to promote harmony between the Republic of the West and the Governments of the Eastern Hemisphere."

ANDREW JOHNSON.

Cholera—Exchanges—Stocks.

NEW YORK, July 30.—There were eleven cases of cholera in this city yesterday and six to-day.

Flour dull—10 cents lower. Corn 1 and 2 cents lower. Government stocks advanced and firm.

A. H. Stephens will go to the Philadelphia Convention.

A. H. Stephens publishes a letter promising to attend the Philadelphia Convention.

Adjournment of Congress.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Congress adjourned at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, after a continuous session of thirty hours and passing a great multitude of measures.

The House having refused to pass the Senate resolution modifying the test oath to cover the special case of Senator Patterson of Tennessee, the Senate adopted a resolution allowing him to be admitted, and he was sworn in.

Both houses passed a bill increasing the regular army; also a bill to equalize the bounties of soldiers.

The Senate confirmed Gen. Steedman as Superintendent of Public Printing, vice Defrees, removed, and Gen. Canby to be Brigadier General in the regular army. The army bill fixes the military peace establishment at five regiments of artillery, ten regiments of cavalry, and forty-five regiments of infantry. The bill increasing the duty on wool was lost in the Senate, but the bill increasing the duty on cigars became a law. The President pocketed the bill relating to Nebraska. The President vetoed the bill erecting Montana into a Surveying District.

CHICAGO, July 30.—Washington special dispatches say, the Senate, before adjourning, recalled its confirmation of Maj. Rae as Brevet Maj. General in the regular army, and a provision was inserted in the army bill directing the Secretary of War to close Provost Marshalships within thirty days. The Senate confirmed Thomas T. Eckert as Assistant Secretary of War; J. T. Rhinehart as First Assistant Postmaster General and Wm. Hunter as Assistant Secretary of State. It is believed the President signed all the bills, except that admitting Nebraska, which they also failed.

OMAHA, July 31.—The following is additional news per steamer from England, July 20th:

In the great naval fight off Lissa the Italian frigate Re De Ralia was sunk by collision. At the beginning of the battle an iron clad blew up with all on board, with cries of "Long live the Kingdom of Italy" from the crew. The Italian accountants state that the Austrian squadron retired after nine hours of war and two vessels had been sunk.

A Vienna telegram says the Italian fleet was driven back and thrashed by the Austrians in the direction of Ancona.

The Times says France has demanded very nearly the exclusion of Austria from the new federal constitution.

The Times says Italy has consented to abstain from all hostilities for five days.

The following Royal Manifesto has just been issued at Vienna:

"To the faithful people of my Kingdom of Hungary.—The hand of Providence weighs heavily upon me in the conflict into which I have been drawn, not voluntarily, but through force of circumstances. Every honorable calculation has been frustrated save one—the confidence I repose in the heroic bravery of my valiant army of the North. Victories are the only bases by which favorable of those brave men have been won, and my entire heart feels the bitterness of that grief with all the peoples afflicted. To put an end to the unequal contest, to gain time and opportunity to fill up the void occasioned by the campaign, and consecrate myself again the healing cares accepting the northern ultimatum of my empire, I have come at with great sacrifice to negotiations for the conclusion of an armistice. I now turn confidently to the people of my kingdom of Hungary and to that gentleman to make the sacrifices so repeatedly displayed in arduous times. The united energies of my entire empire must be set in motion, that the conditions of a safe peace may be secured upon fair conditions. It is my profound belief that the warlike sons of Hungary, actuated by feelings of his military fidelity, will volunteer and hasten to my banners to the assistance of their king, and for the protection of the country which is immediately threatened by the emperor of war. Hasty, therefore, in force to the defence of the invaded country. Be worthy sons of your gallant fathers whose heroic deeds gained never fading laurels for the glory of the Hungarian name.

(Signed) FRANCIS JOSEPH.

Prince Napoleon arrived at Venice on the 18th. A decree had been officially promulgated organizing an administration for Venetia.

The Marquis Pepoli had been appointed State Commissioner at Padua.

A Vienna correspondent says that four hundred thousand men and six hundred cannon are massed for the defence of Vienna. It is said that one hundred thousand are crowded within the entrenchment camps of Florisdorf. From sixty to eighty thousand fresh soldiers from Venetia have joined and everything betokens a coming conflict at many points. A portion of the Prussian army has crossed the river, marching near Hollio in Hungary.

LIVERPOOL, July 21.—The cotton market is firm; middling Orleans 14½.

The above patents will be delivered to the persons entitled to them, by mail or in person, upon the surrender of the Donation Certificate, or Receiver's Receipt, as the case may be.

An article of Oregon manufacture—a blanket is thus noticed by an eastern paper: "Mrs. Lincoln has sent to the Soldiers' Fair, at Washington, a silk bed-quilt on which much tasteful needle work is displayed. It bears in the centre a blue star in a white field, on which are lesser stars corresponding with the number of States which Mr. Lincoln believed to be in the Union after the rebellious attempt to shatter the Government had been defeated. Among these stars is a national eagle, and around it the motto E Pluribus Unum. The quilt is bordered with stripes of red and white. On the other side, in splendid embroidery, are represented beautiful flowers, the blooming Rye which watches over our country's industry, and an arm-chair emblazoning the Chair of State. This specimen of needlework was presented to Mr. Lincoln from Mrs. William Barlow of Oregon, in 1861."

The Sentinel has the following news from the Santiam mines: "From George Edes, Esq., who has just returned from the Santiam, we learn that the mill is engaged in crushing fifty tons of rock from the middle tunnel of the Santiam Company; that the rock looks well—specie well, crushes readily; that a clean-up will be made about the middle of the week. The Sherman lode, in the Santiani District, is turning out very rich in lead. It is believed that it is now nearly rich enough to work for lead alone. But better than all, it pays about $15. per ton of ore, lead and silver, and is getting richer as deeper they sink on the lead. Very fine specimens may be seen at Nicklin's store. It is reported that Foley has discovered rich placer diggings, paying twenty-five cents to the pan, at a creek some twenty miles north of the Gold Creek mines."

The Commissioner of Immigration has been in receipt of "Brosius's Bronchial Troches" in such as to give the best possible effect with safety. The Troches are used always with good success, and are widely known as the best remedy for Coughs, Colds, Throat Diseases, and Bronchial troubles.

MEETING OF THE COMMON COUNCIL.—The regular weekly meeting of the City Council was held last evening at the usual hour, Mayor Failing presiding.

The following members were present: Messrs. Bennett, Carter, Lownsdale, Hailock, McCraken, O'Connor and ——— Allen.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

A petition of Walter Moffitt for the use of a part of the street at the corner of Main and Front, in building, was granted for thirty days. Also, the use of streets at the corner of Alder and Front, was granted to C. M. Carter, Esq., for the same purpose for thirty days.

A remonstrance was read against the improvement of Salmon street, signed by the representatives of 1,100 feet, which was referred. A remonstrance against the improvement of B. Street, signed by representatives of 1,500 feet, was also received, and referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property, together with a petition, presented some time ago, for the same improvement.

An extension of the time for improving First street, by contractors J. H. Perry & Co., until September 1st, was given.

Messrs. Perry & Co., submitted a proposition to repair the Nicolson pavement between Pine and Morrison streets, on Front street, at $2.50 per square yard, which proposition was laid on the table.

Superintendent Walker, of the river improvements, reported that the work of building the Dredger was rapidly progressing. That the machinery was all on board, and being adjusted as fast as possible; that the masts were ready for service, etc. That should the water continue to recede as fast as it has for two weeks past, he would soon put the engine pulley into operation, with the diving apparatus. He recommended that one-half of the cost of the machinery be paid to the builders, and the remainder after the trial of the Dredger. The report was placed on file.

The payment of $2,500, on account of the construction of the dredger machinery, to the Oregon Iron Works, was referred to the committee on river improvements. An account of Thomas G. Bolger, amounting to $1,575, for repairs to scows belonging to the dredger, was laid on the table that reason might be had to the contract made with the party. E. J. Northrup & Co. were allowed $255.71 for materials furnished to the dredger, and a warrant was also authorized in favor of Hodge, Calef & Co. for $50, on a like account. The pay roll of men employed for the month of July, on the dredger, amounting to $395 was ordered paid by the drawing of several warrants in favor of the parties concerned.

The following matters pertaining to the fire department, were acted upon: Bills of E. Dennis, for repairs to stove at the corner of Stark and Front; Morris, and Second and Third streets, $175, laid over for approval. Bill of Smith Brothers, for repairs to engine of Company No. 4, $12; ordered paid. The quarterly stipends due each company June 30th, were ordered paid, and also the same for the second quarter were authorized to be advanced. A new drag rope for Company No 2 was purchased, and a hydrant was ordered to be placed in front of the house of Co. ——ny No. 2. The cistern at the corner of Seventh and Morrison streets was relayed to be properly secured until the matters of the grade of that section were quieted.

Warrants were authorized in payment of claims as follows: H. L. Pittock, advertising $25; R. Pittock, rent of Engine house No. 4 $30; W. R. Carter, printing ——— blanks, $10; Gas for 31 street lamps during July, $651; Gas for Council room, 10 23; Water for July, $50; J. P. Ward and E. Saunders, police services month of July $100 each; City Marshal, for 23 dogs killed in July $46; Several other bills were referred.

The committee on streets and public property reported that the Nicolson pavement on Front street, between Pine and C streets had been completed and accepted, and recommended that warrants be drawn in favor of Messrs. J. H. Perry & Co., contractors, for the sum of $4,671 72, less $582 75 as forgiven in favor of Mr. ——— for the use of the pavers. The report was adopted and warrants authorized.

An ordinance appropriating $1,292 43 to the Recorder's Court fund, to pay outstanding orders, was read the first and second times and referred to the committee on Ways and Means.

An ordinance relating to dredging, etc., was read the first time, and laid on the table.

An ordinance appropriating $500 to aid in the construction of a bridge at the ——— was read a third time and laid on the table.

On motion the Council adjourned.

ORDINANCES.—Two remonstrances were submitted to the Common Council last evening, one against the improvement of Salmon street, between First and Fifth streets, signed by the holders of seven hundred feet, and one against the improvement of Ankeny, between Front and Sixth streets, signed by the owners of fifteen hundred feet. The remonstrants to the Salmon street improvement have taken the course because of action had before which defeated the proposed improvement of Ankeny street to Park Avenue, by dedare that street be made permanent west as well as east of Fifth street, and will not allow themselves to be ——— in the partial improvement. The signers to the remonstrance against improvements on B street state that the improvements not needed at this time for the public good, and hold that but few private interests would be benefited by it. They further state that the method (McAdamizing) would not accomplish the end aimed at, viz: a permanent and substantially improved street, as the ground is but newly graded, and will require filling from two to six feet in some places, which should be done long enough before the pavement is put down to admit of the earth settling compactly. Another objection stated is that of travel, which they say have been rather burdensome to them for some time past.

AN HONOR.—Our friend H. C. Coffee, Esq., County Clerk, and his very capable deputy Mr. Edw. ———, may now be seen at all ——— in their ——— rooms, at their new office in the new Court House building. The office of Sheriff Stiles, has not yet been fully removed, but will be by ——— The Council Chamber is not yet incomplete, but is so nearly ready for use that it can be occupied by various departments without inconvenience to the workmen. The first term of Court will be held in the apartments of Judge ——— A. Strong, on the first Monday, that being the first day of holding the August term of the County Court. The Circuit Court room is not yet quite finished off, the seats, bar, and Judge's desk having yet to be completed; however, this will be done before the next term, which is to be held in the new building, according to present calculations.

THE ANNUAL FIRE DEPARTMENT PARADE.—We understand that the Board of Engineers have made arrangements for the parade of the Portland Fire Department on the first Monday in September, at a special meeting, held on the first inst., by virtue of the following provision in the laws of the Department: "That the Engineers of the several companies of the Fire Department, when called together by the Chief Engineer, shall constitute a Board of Engineers, and they are hereby authorized and empowered to call parades of the Department and make all necessary arrangements therefor, to confirm and act upon such business as may properly appertain thereto, and their action shall be binding upon the several companies."

BUSINESS DIRECTORY.—We have ——— added to a very important work now in press by H. G. Langley, Esq., of San Francisco, which is to be a complete compendium of the business of the entire Pacific coast. We trust that the merchants and ——— men of our city will see the advantage of having Portland properly represented in the book. The ——— appears in our columns to-day, and the ——— Williams, who is in the city, will ——— principal business men a call for the purpose of collecting ——— and soliciting ——— We ——— him a good patronage.

NEW STAGE ROUTE.—The ——— stage route over Mt. Hood ——— Mr. D. M. Heide is now ——— making this city on Monday and ———, and returning on ——— days, proper ——— an important line of travel. The coach ——— at Hillsboro, Centerville, ——— Grove, and Lafayette, ——— the latter place with the mail once a week for ——— Mr. Field is provided for the ——— and first class ——— having good ———

PEARS.—Lloyd Brooks has quite a ——— growing on one of the trees in his garden, ——— of two crops of fruit. The first crop will be ripe in a very short time, and the ——— have just fallen from the growing fruit of the second crop. The latter ——— growing two crops of fruit on one tree, in one season, is suggestive of a few thoughts on the value of ——— as a fruit country. It has been of very ——— importance this year.

INJURED.—Two unfortunate men, one of whom lives in Jacksonville, when at home, and the other on the Lewis river, Washington Territory, were yesterday sent to the Asylum, being insane persons. The first mentioned has served three years in the volunteer forces of this State. The latter was at one time confined in the Asylum at ——— It is said that he has ——— property in Clarke county.

BIG WAGONS.—Many a thousand feet of lumber can in this State and in Washington Territory which is shipped to California, comes back to us in the shape of ——— manufactured at the extensive works of ——— & Co., San Francisco. The ——— gentleman is doing a very large and lucrative trade, which is of course principally confined to California, but at the same time many of our merchants purchase packing boxes of ———

SPECTACLES.—We regret to learn that the ill health of Mr. Jacob Cohen has ——— him to offer his valuable stock of jewelry, watches, clocks, cutlery, etc., for sale on such terms as will enable him to discontinue business in our city. We very much dislike to have Mr. Cohen withdraw from the trade, but he has evidently decided upon doing so. See advertisement in another column this morning.

ARRIVAL.—When running to the fire on Tuesday night ——— M. T. R. Travers, of Company No. 3, in climbing upon the steam fire engine slipped and fell ——— on the back, one of which ran against him with such force as to fracture the ninth rib on the left side. He was taken to his home and ——— was attended to immediately, and it is hoped will not prove very serious.

FAREWELL.—Dr. Plummer of the telegraph office in this city is at present on a winged visit up the valley! He left the business in charge of his ——— Messrs. Leahy and Skinner, who are now furnishing items by lightning from Europe and the Eastern States of this continent.

THE STEAMER.—The steamship Pioneer, Capt. Erskine, will not sail from this port until two o'clock P. M. on Saturday next. The inward cargo has been discharged, and freight will now be taken for Victoria as it may offer.

NEWS FAVORS.—We are again indebted to McCormick, of the Franklin Book Store, for late Eastern papers and magazine. He has a full supply of the latest that have been received.

FINES.—The woman Colored Sue, paid a fine of $5 and costs upon conviction before Judge Hoffman yesterday, for having conducted herself in a shameful manner publicly on the street.

———.—Squire Risley of this city has a chestnut tree in his garden, which is bearing fruit the ———

WASHOUGAL.—E. Elliott will find a very important telegraphic dispatch at the telegraph office in this city.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

The officers of the United States Courts are negotiating for temporary use of the rotunda of the Merchants' Exchange, Battery street. Courts will resume their sittings next week. The papers and records have been removed to room No. 1 of Merchant's Exchange building, where Clerk Gorham and his deputies are busily engaged in drying and re-arranging them in proper order. Injunctions of the various companies in part, papers in relation to land titles throughout California, have been removed uninjured. The Clerk will receive papers which are necessary to be filed, within a certain time, but for the present no other business in connection with the Courts can be attended to.

The United States steamer Saginaw which left Callao on the 15th of January, and touched at all the principal ports on the Pacific coast, arrived here this morning. She immediately proceeded to Mare Island.

The will of Capt. Hiram Frederick Sturdick has been filed in the Probate Court. He leaves all his property to his wife, Louisa, and appoints S. H. Mecic, his executor.

Judge Sawyer, to-day, granted J. B. Merang a divorce from M. E. Merang on the ground of desertion.

Sarah McCarthy commenced suit in the 4th District Court against John Delea, to recover $100,000 for alleged false imprisonment on a charge of larceny made by defendant.

The case of Margaret Denny, charged with shooting at Mike Doyle, was continued in the Police Court yesterday afternoon, and a decision will be rendered in the matter on Saturday next. The testimony was very conflicting.

While the U. S. Court building was burning yesterday morning, an attempt was made to burn the Marshal's Headquarters on Kearny street, but the prompt arrival of the engines saved the premises with but a trifling loss.

The United States steamer Saginaw attached to the Russian-American Telegraph Expedition, sailed for the Northern waters last night. She takes as passengers to Victoria, Mr. Blanchard, one of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and James Street.

Fernando Sorsbie, charged with having killed Juan Yguabisa, has been held to answer before the County Court on a charge of manslaughter. His bail was fixed at $5,000.

Private telegrams received to-day, state that the new Tariff bill will affect dry goods to the extent of imposing additional duties for charges such as cost of packing and transportation to the port of export.

There is considerable activity in the Custom House to-day by way of withdrawing goods, some parties having to deposit additional amounts as a protection against an anticipated increase of duties by the new tariff on the goods sought to be withdrawn.

Flour—There is considerable inquiry for export to China. Superfine is being sold and delivered at the ship for $4 75@5 00 Bbl. We quote superfine lbl at $5 00@5 25; extra lbl at $5 25@5 50; extra ½bl at $2 75@3 00.

Wheat—Sales at $1 55. Some parties are holding their wheat at $1 65, but no long'rs Santa Clara can be had for $1 55 we think their prospects for securing that price rather poor.

FROM WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Our Olympia correspondent, under date of July 29th, sends the following:

There have been several improvements and changes in real estate in Olympia recently, worthy of notice. Mr. S. Hyde has purchased the premises, known as the old Pioneer printing office, and is having it fitted up for the Surveyor General's office.

Mr. C. B. Wilson is fitting up a residence on the north west corner of Main and Front Streets.

Dr. Rufus Willard has purchased the south east corner of Main and Front, and is having the building refitted for a drug store and office.

Mr. S. Percival has nearly completed a new and commodious ——— on Second street.

The water works are being further extended, for ——— ing the ——— at the wharves, and every place of business and dwelling in the lower part of the place. Hydrants, with pipes and hose, have been furnished along Main street, to be used for fire purposes during the ———

Gov. Pickering left last Monday to join Judge Darwin and a party of English gentlemen at Skyoma, near Puget Sound, according ——— to appointment. There has been ——— of the mountain during the last six months, which has excited the curiosity of the scientific.

The Lilly Ann, 1016 tons, left the Sound a few days ago with lumber and spars, for Valparaiso, France. Several large ships have left the Sound within a few ——— for foreign ports with lumber and spars.

The Pacific Christian Advocate ——— the printing of the United States laws, since the ——— of Seward.

The following items are from the Tribune of July 28th:

THE CROPS OF HAY AND GRAIN.

We have seldom seen better crops in any country than those now coming on between this place and the Cowlitz. Hay, both ——— and cultivated, ——— Chehalis and the Cowlitz Farm, and along the stage route through Chequato. We have ——— that the ——— good all through the Chehalis valley. Grain is very heavy, with a prospect of an abundant yield of all kinds of grain.

We are informed that about a dozen persons are mining on the Cowlitz river in the newly discovered district, and are making it pay ——— well. As soon as harvesting is over a number of others intend going. It is said an Indian made the discovery several years ago, and last Tuesday ——— in a house to reveal the ——— to several persons. ——— specimens. The mines are on the South fork of the river, about two days' hard traveling on foot from the Cowlitz prairie.

A new stage road for about seven miles has been opened, commencing one mile from Pewa, here Landing on the Cowlitz river, and ——— to Olequa creek. This is ——— ing the distance considerably and ——— the abominable hills and holes in the road which follows the river up to Brown's old station. It has not been in use but a few days as yet, and is, consequently, a little rough, but will be improved by time and travel. It is laid out on the top of dry ridge the whole ——— and with but little trouble large mud holes, the dread of travelers, can be prevented. An effort will soon be made to open a near road around ——— Chehalis Mountain.

THE MINT LAW.

The Legislature, at last ——— has at last fixed the better ——— the Assistant, and the town marshal has given notice that he shall proceed against all who hereafter violate the ———

The Wilkes address has been laid up at Victoria, to have her boilers thoroughly overhauled and repaired. When she is put in order we may look out for a lively operation on the Sound for a time.

THE WAR IN PARAGUAY.—Rio Janeiro advices to the 3d of June, state that the Paraguayans, instead of falling back from Humaita, as the Allies confidently expected, awaited the approach of the latter, and by a bold and sudden dash gave a severe blow to them, but reinforcements arriving, the Brasilians finally retrieved the day, not however without the loss of a battery of artillery captured by the Paraguayans early in the fight. The fight was a very severe one. More than 1,000 wounded Allies had arrived at Corrientes from the field. The Paraguayans still resolutely hold their fort and a severe battle was anticipated. All their war vessels had been converted into floating batteries, with the exception of five, which are kept as transports and despatch boat.

UNCONSTITUTIONAL.—The Mobile Times of June 12th, chronicles the return of Raphael Semmes, and remarks:

We express our disappointment at this act of the Federal Executive, and whether it is self-inspired or suggested, it will appear to all right thinking men a most singular infringement of the rights, under the Constitution, of Mobile.

It is well the rebel pirate is disfranchised, but the President's policy toward Semmes contrasts strangely with other acts of liberality toward rebels.

They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhœa and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.
They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.
Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp cancellated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

Mr. Nasby turns a Meeting Called to Indorse Gen. Rossan to Account.

CONFEDERNIT X ROADS,
(Wich is in the Sunit uv Kentucky,
There was joy at the Corners, when the Postmaster (who takes the only paper wich comes to the offis, ceptin a few wich comes to some demoralized niggers who hev learned to read, and the offisers of the Freedmen's Burow barn), read to the crowd the news of the canin wich Rossa, wich is uv Kentucky, give Grinnell. It sent a thrill uv joy through the Stait wich aint done thrillin yet. Bustin out into nine harty cheers, we to-wonst organized a meetin for the purpose uv expressin our feelins on the momentous occasion. The bell wuz rung, the people gathered together and I wuz elected chairman (they altur elect me to preside bcos I'm bald-headed—they think heds and dignity is inseparable), and Beekin Ingram Secretary, with 36 Vice Presidents, one for each Stait. I made a short speech on takin the chair, congratulatin 'em on the auspicious event wich called us together, whereupon a committee on resolutions wuz appinted, wich after a short absence reported as follows:

Whereas, General Rossa, a native born Kentuckian, and, therefore, a gentleman, having got into a argument with a Iowa sheep breeder; and,

Whereas, Hevin got the worst uv the argument he dextrously turnde it into blackguardin; and

Whereas, Hevin got the worst uv the blackguardin, he remembered the ancient usages uv the chivalrous sons uv the South and caned him; and therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the Democrisy uv Confedrit X Roads, wich is in the State of Kentucky, hereby thank Gen. Rosso for his manly vindication uv the character of Kentucky.

Resolved, That we know not wich to admire the most, the Yankin General's courage in bravin the public sentiment of the North, or his prudence in selectin the smallest and, physically the weakest man in the House to demonstrate unto.

Resolved, That ex Thad Stevens is 70 years of age and lame, and hardly recovered from his fit uv sickness, we suggest that our beloved hero commence a argument with him, feelin so far as the argument and blackguardin goes, the result will be the same, only so much more so as to give him a good excuse for killin him, which would be doin the South a servis, indeed.

Resolved, That the Democrisy uv Kentucky hevant fet so good since the Memphis Riots.

Resolved, That this manly act of General Rossa's makes up and compensates the South for the outrage he inflicted onto her when he joined the vandal host which devastated her soil, and, that hereafter she shel be received with jest the same cordiality as though he gone into the Confederit instead of the Federal servise.

Resolved, That the thanks uv the Democrisy are due to the bold, brave man who accompanied and stood by Ginerul Rosso in this vindication of the Southern spirit.

Upon the affirmative as is the custom here, it bein the rool, when the leaders want a thing to pass, never to call pass, and it went through all right. Then I arose and stood that I had another resolution, which I wished to offer, and I read it:

Resolved, That in retainin in the Postorfice at the Corners, a Abilishinist, President Johnson is—

At this point Deakin Pogram interrupted me. He opposed this meetin wuz called to congratulate Ginral Rosso, and wat was the sense of mixin up a paltry Post orfis with a matter of no much importance as the casin uv a Ab Hishinist? It was clearly out uv order.

I replied: "Wood you be glad or wood this congregashun be glad to hev me in the Post orfis, in the place of that Abilishinist?"

The Deakin replied that personally he wood. He had the highest respect for my massive talents and my excellent qualities of head and heart, and he didn't he thought probable of I got the Post orfis, he would stand a chance uv getting the nine dollars and sixty-to cents borrowed money I owed him, and——

I called him to order at once.

Beekon, who keeps the grocery, and who furnishes me with likker (which I hev to take for my hair), on the afternoth of said meetin I am to receive, insisted on hearin the resolution of it would further my gettin the Post orfis, and as did the benevolent gentleman with whom I borrd, and I rescinded.

"I kin see a good reason for incorporatin a realoosha disposishun a change in the Post orfis into the proceedings uv this meetin. There wood be my friends," sez I, "to oppose by sendin him a repeal resolution demanding this change, becoi he received hundreds and tons uv dockyments uv applicashuns for offices every day—in fact, they pile in at such a rate that he never opens the half uv them. The Democrisy, my brethren, are alive on this subject. If they are to support the President they want, and will hev, the postorfis for of what use is it to support a man and pay your own expenses? It is plain that the proceedin uv a post orfis meetin wood never reach him—but this, my brethren, goes up to him from the ranks, indorsin a supporter uv his policy, and as it will be the only charge he has received or will receive, he will read it and read it through, and in the exultation he will feel at bein indorsed by any body, who double the result? The post orfis is mine."

Beekon, the grocery keeper, moved excitedly, the adoption of the resolution. I suggested that I had better read it, but he said it made no differunce he knew it was all rite. The newsiest and sensiblest individooal I board with seconded the motion, and Deakin Pogram supported it in a short speech, statin that he understood that it was Brudder Nasby's intention, of he succeeded in procurin the position, to devote the first three and a half years salary towards payin off the small indebtedness he had contracted while he was honored the town by residin in it. To all uv which I blandly smiled an assent, whereupon the resolution wuz adopted yoomanimously. Hevin lived here a little rain uv 6 year, the vote wuz perfectly yoomanimous.

My prospex is brite.

Honor to the Nation's Dead.

[Special Correspondence of the Cincinnati Gazette.]

NASHVILLE, June 17, 1866.

A REMINISCENCE.

Three years and-a-half ago, the banks of Stone river, in the vicinity of Murfreesboro, echoed to the roar of battle. Two mighty armies met there in deadly conflict. The fields were ridged by long lines of earthworks. The wheels of artillery carriages plowed the ground. The trees were torn by shot and shell. The earth was covered with dead and dying men.

No one who was then present will ever forget the afternoon of January 2, 1863. At that time the right wing of the rebel army, led by Breckinridge, was routed and ruined. Up the hill, down which the enemy had charged our left, they fled in wild dismay, pursued by our gallant heroes and by fierce blasts of vindictive fire. For a short time earth literally shook with the tumult, and the awful din was echoed in thunder from the clouds.

AN INCIDENT.

Just after dusk I rode over the bloody field. All forms of terrible death I saw there. All forms of living anguish met the eye while ear groans and dying prayers fell upon the pitying ear.

At the foot of a tree lay a soldier of the 118th Ohio (I would that I could recall his name). A musket ball had pierced his breast near the region of the heart. A fragment of shell had fearfully mangled his left thigh. The life blood was rapidly flowing from both wounds.

He motioned to me as I was riding by. I dismounted and knelt by his side.

"I have seen you before," said he in a husky whisper; "can you bring me a drop of water?"

Detecting a canteen from the dead body of a comrade lying near, I held it to his lips. He drank, and looked at me with an expression of gratitude whose memory I shall carry with me as a precious treasure until my dying day.

"I am mortally wounded, am I not?" he asked.

"Indeed, my poor friend, I think you are!"

"I shall soon die, then!" he said with calmness, and turned away his head.

A PROPHECY.

But in another moment he looked around, and in a still feebler whisper said: "No matter; I shall live up yonder; and in a few more years even the little children shall come to honor my grave."

Then he died. I arose from his side with solemn awe. But his last words filled my mind. And the parting prayers of those who like him, were dying there; in the stern words "close up!" which rang out from our advance above the brow of the hill; in the deep boom of the cannon, which still opened at intervals upon the baffled foe; aye, even in the rustling of the wind as it stirred the few dead leaves that clung to the branches above me. I thought I could hear the words of that sad but glorious prophecy, "Even the little children shall come to honor our graves."

THE FULFILLMENT.

Yesterday, the prophecy was fulfilled! And I do not doubt that by the grave of that very soldier, some little child knelt down, in all the sweet simplicity of childhood, and placed above his head a flower.

THOSE WHO HONORED THE GRAVES.

Yesterday morning, a large procession of little ones, with their teachers, headed by the magnificent band of the 16th regular infantry, marched through the streets of Nashville, down to the Chattanooga depot. They were the pupils of the Union Methodist Episcopal Sunday School, of the German Methodist Sunday School, and other children connected with other schools. No one, except those who have resided for some time in the South, can conceive how it makes a loyal heart bound, to see men, women and children moving to the sound of patriotic music, while our country's banner floated over their heads.

Arrived at the depot, an immense crowd was collected. Although the affair was announced as but a Sunday School picnic, still, when it became known that the battle ground of Stone river would be visited, and the graves of the dead sleeping there would be honored, large numbers of loyal people were anxious to participate; and so thirteen cars, filled to their utmost capacity, with Union-loving people, rolled away, at half-past eight, from the depot.

PROCEEDINGS ON THE GROUND.

A pleasant ride of an hour or two brought us to the ground. Chaplain Eprahaw, who superintends the National cemetery at Murfreesboro, had made excellent arrangements for receiving the company. A stand, decorated with flags and patriotic mottoes, was erected near the monument built to Hazen's slumbering braves. Around this was built a booth of green boughs, sufficient to shelter thousands of people from the sun or from a light rain. A shower somewhat interfered with the firemen's exercises, but, as some one beautifully expressed it (was it Gen. Fisk?), "an angel came and looked upon the company, saw that the object for which it had assembled was good, brushed away the clouds with his wings," and in the afternoon let the bright sunshine down over the field.

Major General B. W. Johnson, assisted by a number of Vice Presidents and Secretaries, presided over the formal portion of the affair. Numbers had come from Murfreesboro and Shelbyville to participate in the proceedings; and in the afternoon there could not have been less than between 1,500 and 2,000 people upon the ground.

Gen. Fisk, Secretary Fletcher and others, made short and appropriate speeches, and then the entire company marched to the cemetery. The band went first, the soldiers of the Army of the Cumberland followed, the children of the Sunday schools came next, and other persons present brought up the rear.

THE TOUCHING CEREMONY IN THE CEMETERY.

To slow and solemn music, with heads uncovered and moistened eyes, they moved among those honored graves. And when the procession halted a host of beautiful boys and girls spread everywhere throughout the cemetery, kneeling by the little mounds which mark the heroes' last resting places and tenderly laid above the head of each a flower!

Soon after the company dispersed.

Dead soldier of the 18th Ohio! Translated child of the Republic! How soon was your dying prophecy fulfilled! Four years have not passed away since you laid down your life to save your country, and already the little children come to honor your grave! And I, as I stood there close by your tomb and watched them, could only silently give thanks to heaven that I had been so blest as both to hear the prophecy and witness the sublime fulfilment!

Southern Crop Prospects.

The New York Post of June 21st, says that at this season the Southern journals are filled with letters from the rural regions; sometimes hopeful, again despondent; and oftentimes quite contradictory from the same sections of the States about the crop prospects of the year. It is noticeable that cotton does not seem to be so much of a "king" as it was, and all mention of cotton is subordinate in importance to accounts of other crops. As a general thing, the South is not over sanguine about a large cotton crop this season. A writer in the Wilmington (N. C.) Journal gives some account of agricultural prospects in Eastern North Carolina. In Gates, Hertford and Chowan, formerly great corn-growing counties, there is little corn this year, but the planters were attending almost exclusively to cotton, with favorable prospects of success. In Perquimans and Pasquotank corn was cultivated as the chief staple, and in Perquimans the wheat crop was good. In Washington and Tyrrell "there was a scarcity of negro laborers, but great activity." In Hyde "as many acres of corn had been planted as formerly, and at this time there are flattering prospects for as large a crop as has ever been raised in this very productive county." Wherever negro labor was scarce, "determination was evinced by the white population to engage in agricultural labors." In Hertford, the Journal says, "the Freedmen's Bureau was managed with great satisfaction?" and in Hyde, where there is no Bureau organization, "there exists the most kindly good feeling between the whites and blacks, and the freedmen are laboring with great faithfulness and contentment."

The Macon (Georgia) Telegraph talks about "a day of gloom to the planters," following "floods, tornadoes, bad seed, poor stock and still poorer work." But the Telegraph began the season with an estimate of a million and a half bales, and it "adheres to it still." The editor of the Columbus Enquirer has made a trip into the country, and found cotton and corn "more backward than he supposed." But the corn had suffered from neglect in trying to save the cotton. Most of the wheat was cut and shocked in the field; the rust had done much damage, and in the country trading to Columbus, wheat half a crop was looked for. A letter to the Augusta Constitutionalist, June 16th, from Clarke county, says of wheat that the yield is not so large as is expected, but good and free from rust; cotton would equal half the amount raised in 1860, with the number of laborers one-fourth less. A correspondent of the Augusta Chronicle, who has been over the Georgia road, writes that "there is general complaint of bad stands of cotton, but wheat and cotton are very satisfactory." He mentioned the purchase last spring by two northern men, from Col. J. B. Walker, of 2,700 acres of land at $12 50 and $20 per acre. They plowed, says the correspondent, 1,000 acres with two horse-turning plows, introduced all the improved implements for planting and cultivating, much to the amusement of many of those wedded to the trill tongue and shooter, and I am informed that their crop is the finest in all the region, and that, with no future calamity, they will make enough to pay for the farm this year." Another Northerner was not so successful and was quite disheartened. These parties were employing "Northern white and Southern black labor."

In Mississippi wet weather has damaged cotton and corn. In Louisiana, the crevasse have put crops and country alike, in whole parishes, under water. In Alabama, "late seasons, continued rains, defective seeds and inefficient cultivation" had made prospects "gloomy indeed." The maximum of the cotton crop was estimated at 1,500,000 bales. The Galveston (Texas) News talks quite as despondently about cotton, but reports that "the farmers have harvested the finest crop of wheat ever raised in this State." The Columbia, Tenn., papers think "a few days of warm weather will put the cotton all right." Corn is promising, and the only drawback is the small amount planted; oat fields are very promising, but also too scarce, and grass crops everywhere are very fine. Upon the whole, the general reports from various sections in different States are good (in June) not altogether unfavorable.

Army Items.

A bulletin published June 28th gives the following:

Brevet Brig.-Gen. O. P. Gooding is re-appointed a brevet major general of volunteers, for gallant and meritorious services at the battle of Bisland, at the assault on Port Hudson, and good conduct on the Red River Expedition, as well as other battlefields during the war; Maj. John West Jacobs of Kentucky, is appointed a second-lieutenant in the regular army.

Capt. Philip R. Forney, 4th U. S. Infantry, is dismissed for disobedience of orders and misconduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, having failed to report to his regiment after repeated orders, and having given in payment for a debt a check signed by himself, in his official capacity, on a banking house where he never had any money deposited.

Brevet-Col. John McL. Taylor, Major and Commissary Subsistence, United States Army, as Chief Commissary of the Military Division of the Pacific; Brevet-Maj. Samuel A. Foster, Captain and Commissary Subsistence, United States Army, as Chief Commissary, Department of the Columbia.

Johnson.—The Red Bluff (Cal.) Independent, a paper which formerly sustained "my policy," has been purchased by a true Union man and now advocates Union principles. It says of A. Johnson:

We are confident that the next generation will be far more lenient it its construction of President Johnson's actions than the present. His only record was his denunciation of Jeff. Davis in the United States Senate, and on that alone was built his political prominence. A mediocre Senator and a spasmodic orator, he has been accidentally placed in a position where he has been called upon to face political and national emergencies that would have almost defied the ablest efforts of Clay, Webster or Franklin. A rocket went up in Nashville in 1851; the stick has struck in Washington.

Among the last batch of Consular confirmations by the Senate is that of George W. Bowie for, Canton.

A Great Union Rally in "Egypt"—A Three Hours Speech by General John A. Logan.

CAIRO, (Ill.), June 29th.—Yesterday was a glorious day in this portion of "Egypt." The meeting at the Athenæum in the evening was one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in this city on any occasion. Notwithstanding the efforts made by the opposition to prevent an extended notice of the meeting by repeatedly tearing down and mutilating posters announcing it, and the only notice of it by the Copperhead papers of the city (there are none others here) appearing in the advertising columns without the usual local notice directing attention thereto, yet the people came out. They had all somehow heard that General Logan was coming, and they wanted to hear him. Unfortunately all could not be gratified, as the building was packed from pit to dome at a very early hour, and hundreds went away disappointed, not being able to crowd in. A large number of ladies were present—a feature not usual at Copperhead gatherings.

At an early hour in the evening the General was escorted from the St. Charles hotel by a Committee of citizens headed by the Cairo Silver Cornet Band to the Athenæum Theater, the largest room in the city, where he was received amidst the most enthusiastic cheers.

Upon being introduced to the audience he said that great curiosity had been manifested to know how he stood on various questions in these changing and fluctuating political times. He took great pleasure in informing his fellow citizens what his views were upon the political issues of the day. In regard to reconstruction, he thought that if loyal men were not capable of administering the Government it would be useless to try traitors who still call treason respectable and not odious. He believed it was a sacred duty devolving upon every citizen of the United States to see that the national debt, contracted in defending the country against traitors, shall be paid to the last dime; that the Government should most emphatically ignore all debts contracted by traitors for its own destruction.

Some of the officers of the Freedmen's Bureau might be unfaithfully recreant to the trust reposed in them, as well as other offices of the Government, but the idea of putting a shield between the late slave and the late master was a correct one, and the Southern objection to this bureau is evidence that they wish to re-establish slavery even upon better terms than existed before the slaveholders' war. The Civil Rights bill was neither more nor less than a sort of reconstructed Bureau bill. The Monroe doctrine had become so well recognized and established, even with European monarchies, that it was simply cowardice on the part of the United States, or rather the Secretary of the United States, to allow a European monarchy to be established upon our sister republic of Mexico.

He could not for the life of him see any good reason for being so particularly enthusiastic in enforcing the neutrality laws of 1818, since England has proved that she did not care a straw for them when it was not her interest to do so. If the Irish Fenians wish to achieve Irish nationality and independence, in God's name throw no obstacle in their way; but Irishmen must not forget that to deserve American sympathy and assistance, they must act with the party in favor of universal liberty.

The proposed amendment to the Constitution was all right, because if loyal men who had never faltered in their attachment and devotion to free the Government cannot properly administer the Government, traitors need not try, and are not entitled to any increased representation in the Government which they tried hard to destroy. It has been said that treason must be made odious and traitors must be punished; consequently, we cannot offer a reward for treason.

With such good Union doctrine ringing in our ears, it was half-past eleven o'clock when the General closed the speech, having spoken three hours and a half to an audience who listened eagerly to his lightest word.
